The Natural Scrolling feels a bit odd at first. If you want to switch it off uncheck the button.

The Mouse and Trackpad

In general desktop Macs use mice and MacBooks use trackpads, although separate trackpads can be purchased for use with desktop machines. The default settings are usually fine for most people but you may find the tracking speed (the speed at which the pointer moves over the screen) to be too slow, or the double-click speed too fast. You can adjust all these features by going to Apple Menu > System Preferences > Mouse or Trackpad.
